

Our library continues to become more relevant as a result of digital technologies. Library staff is reengineering the library's services, collections, and workspace using technology platforms. It is time for us to reclaim our roles as facilitators and coaches. We are proud to highlight the following accomplishments in this issue: GU library OPAC and be access from the library tap into the Galgotias University website and GU eLibrary portal 24x7, can be access from anywhere at any time. Using this link will give you better access to our library and allow you to see our achievements. Please see our list of library events or connect with us on Instagram and Facebook. In this newsletter, you will find evidence that the Library really cares about what it does. In addition to one-to-one consultations, these sessions help our students improve their information literacy so that they can better utilize the library's rich resources and content. As part of our last newsletter, we introduced you to the library rules and regulations, hours of operation, and how you can become a library member. As well as discussing the latest technology implemented in our library, we also discussed the use of library holdings and databases.

Welcome Back!!!

We would like to extend a warm welcome to all new and returning students, professors, staff, and lifelong learners on behalf of the GU Library. Visit Library A005 in the Lower Level if you're on campus. There, you'll find a welcoming staff and several recently published books that are available for checkout. Additionally, we provide a wealth of information and services online and are still pleased to mail products to you, such books and media. This issue of our newsletter, Check Out the Library, features some of the new staff members that are committed to meeting your information needs. We will keep you updated on our progress and look forward to celebrating being back in the Library with all of you. Until then, take care and let us know how we can help you.

As a consequence of advances in ICT, libraries are changing rapidly. The library industry is now practically a web-based industry. In the meantime, the library and information science communities are on duty to meet their knowledge and information needs by using their mobile devices, rms. Their goal which is serviced by commercial should be to ensure that knowledge is accessible, free, and equitably preserved, as well as our c heritage is preserved. By cultural and scientific providing a global perspective on Information Professionals in India, this international event aims to provide a forum for knowledge and skill exchange. It will also provide a platform for presenting innovative plans, debating classics as well as new ideas, and facilitating close collaboration among participants from diverse backgrounds.

Keep information professionals updated on the latest developments in library and information science. Connect the dispersed community of library professionals through a common platform to share their experiences. Implement library development plans with the assistance of libraries and librarians. Develop and deliver better library support services using innovative library tools and technologies. In order to enhance library services, academic collaborations and strategic alliances must be strengthened.
